EndNote Guide for New Users

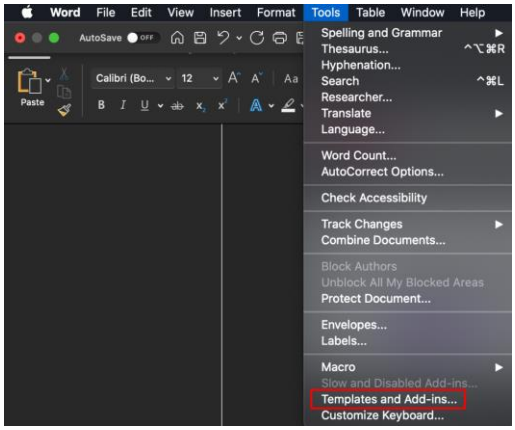

Getting Started

1. Download Endnote from this link (https://uts.mcmaster.ca/services/computers-printers-and-software/software-licensing/endnote/)

2. Download the browser extension called Endnote Click (https://click.endnote.com/)

3. Get the Microsoft Word Add-On:

In Microsoft Word, go to Tools > Templates and Add-ins > check the box for EndNote.
If these files are not available, try reconfiguring EndNote via EndNote > Configure EndNote to add them to the Templates and Add-ins.

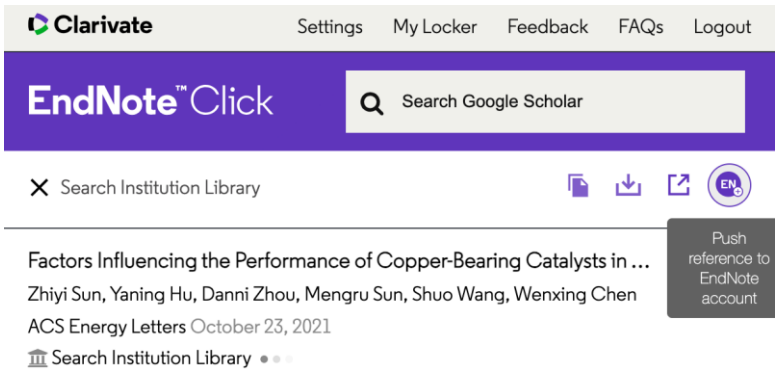

How to Add a Citation to Endnote

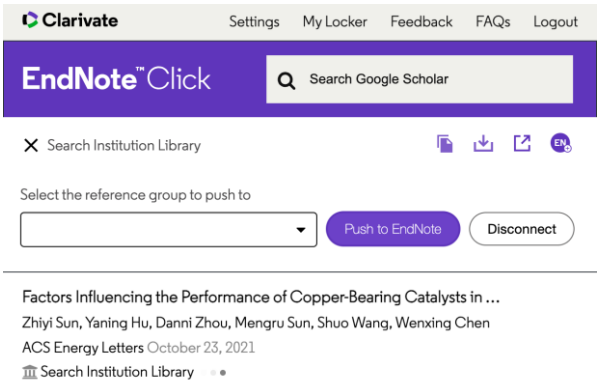

1. Find the paper online

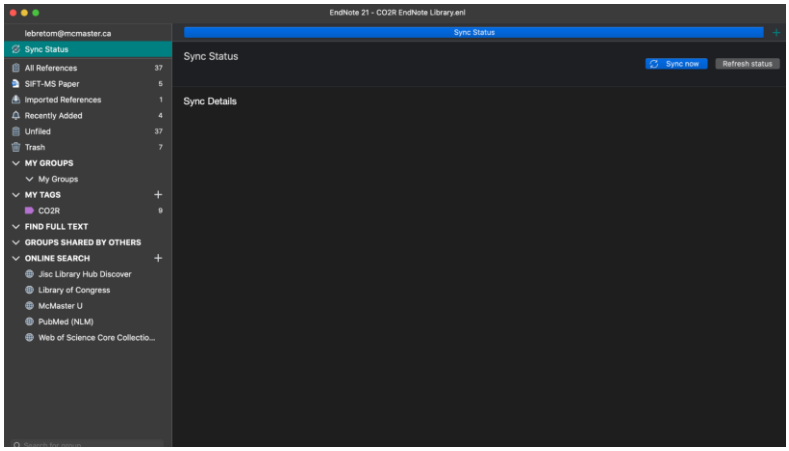

2. Click the endnote browser extension

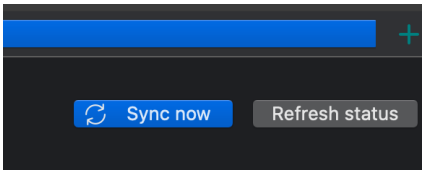

3. Push reference to Endnote account

4. Push to Endnote

5. Open the Endnote App and go to Sync Status

6. Click sync now. Your citation will now be visible in your library!

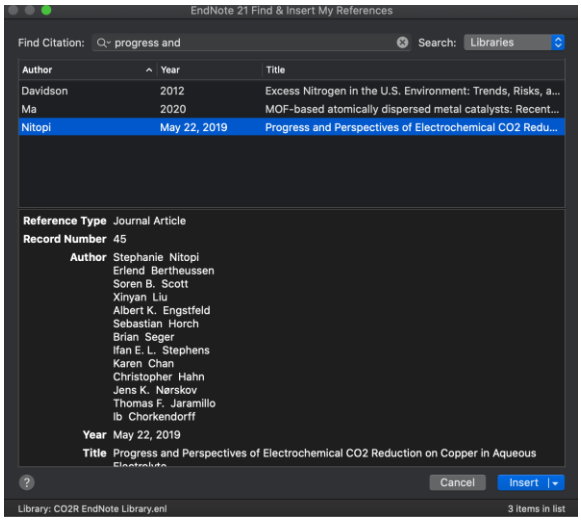

How to Insert a Citation into Your Paper

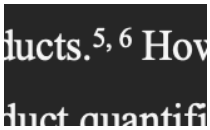

1. Open your paper in Microsoft Word

2. With your cursor positioned at the desired in-text citation, click Insert Citation in the Endnote menu bar

3. Search for your citation and click Insert

1. The Paris Agreement | 2 | Towards a Climate-Neutral Europe | Jos Delbe. Towards a Climate-Neutral Europe, 2019/10/16.
2. Iyer, G., et al., Ratcheting of climate pledges needed to limit peak global warming. Nature Climate Change 2022 12:12, 2022-11-10. 12(12).
3. Centi, G., et al., Catalysis for CO2 conversion: a key technology for rapid introduction of renewable energy in the value chain of chemical industries. Energy & Environmental Science, 2013/05/22. 6(6).

4. Endnote will automatically update in-text citations and create a bibliography